

Remembering Flight 427

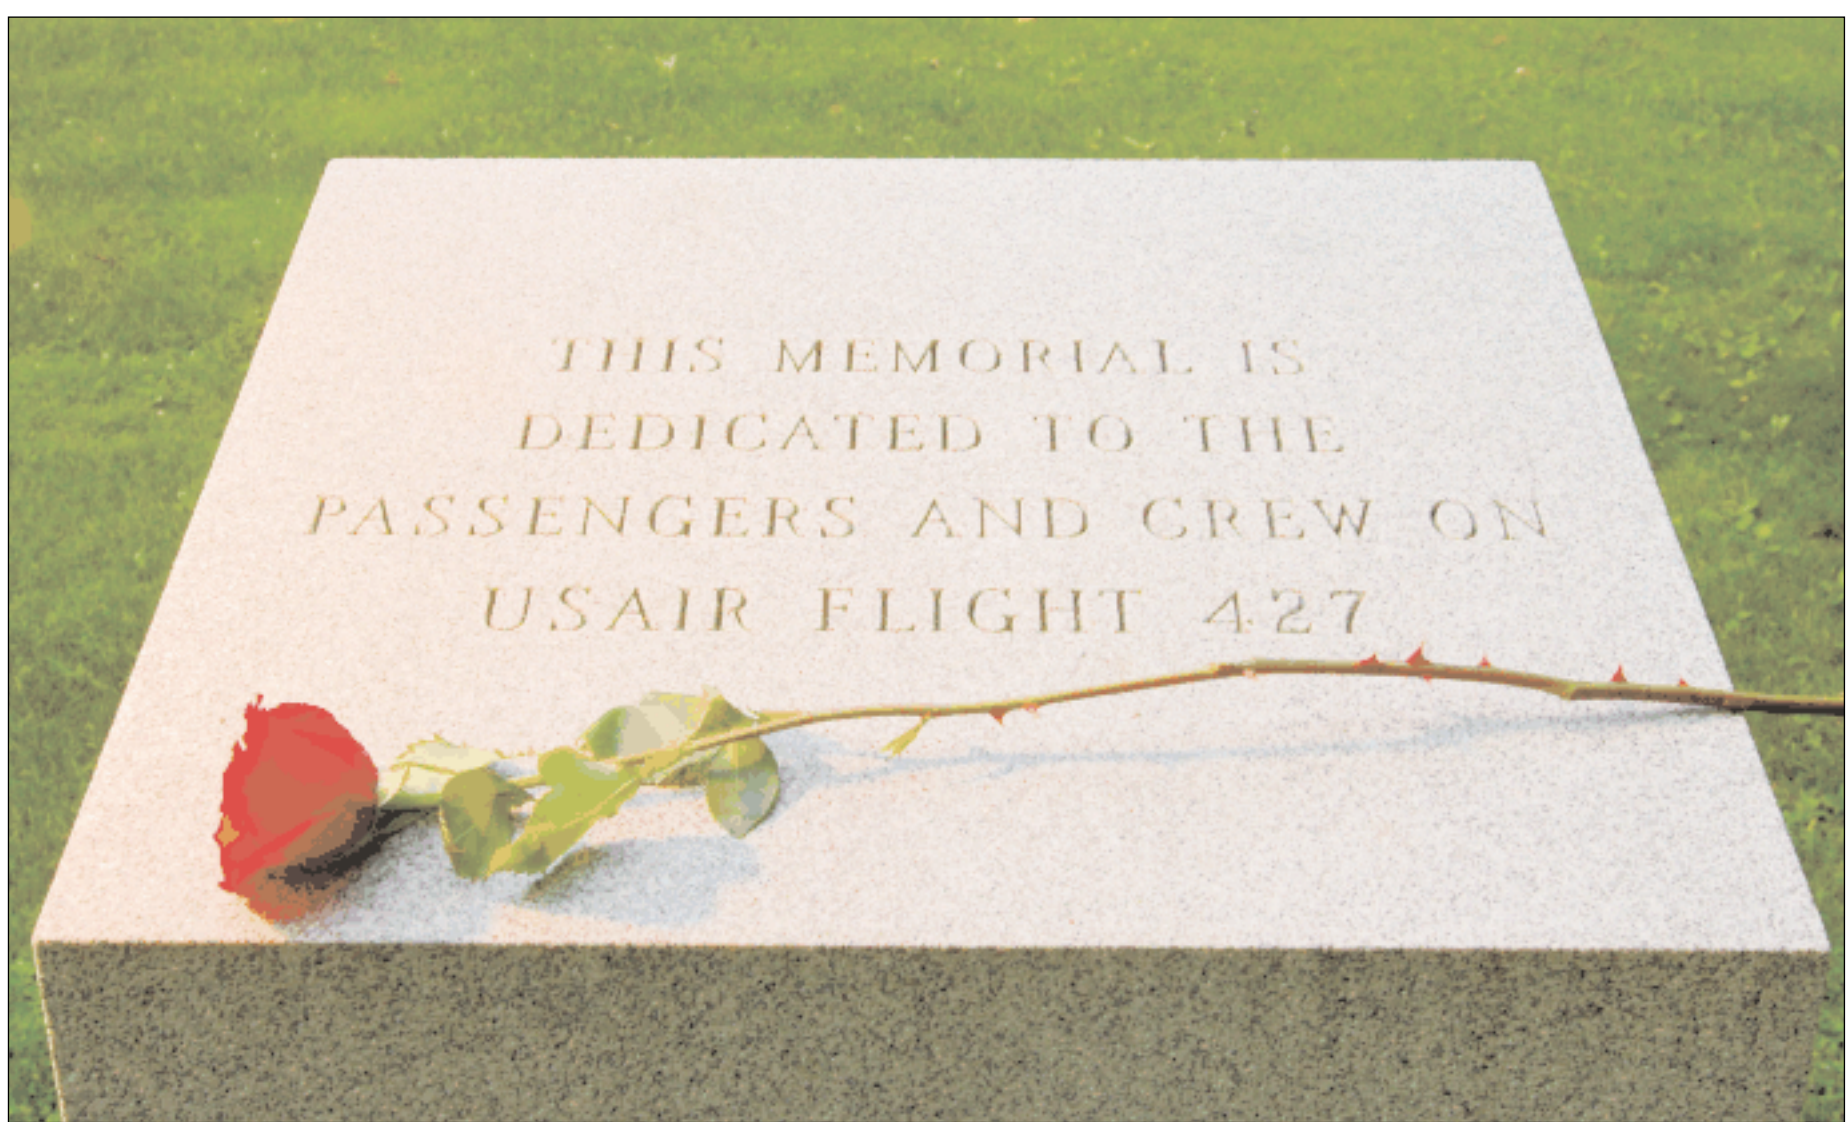

PHOTO ILLUSTRATION: JOE APPEL/TRIBUNE-REVIEW

On Sept. 8, 1994, a USAir Boeing 737-300 with 132 people aboard plunged from the skies over Beaver County. No one survived. This section highlights those who were lost, those who led the recovery and the investigation, and the crash's effect on a still-struggling airline.

PITTSBURGH TRIBUNE-REVIEW

Special Commemorative Section • September 5, 2004